The image shows the cursive Chinese character '九' (Jiǔ), which means 'nine'. It is written in a fluid, black ink style. The character is composed of two main strokes: a vertical stroke (1) that starts at the top, curves slightly to the right, and then curves back down to the left, and a horizontal stroke (2) that starts from the left, crosses the vertical stroke, and then curves down to the right, ending in a small hook. The numbers 1 and 2 are placed near the starting points of the strokes to indicate the correct order and direction of writing.
